

Secure Management Systems

Secure Management Systems delivers Enterprise Security Benefits for Windows™ Based Systems

If your enterprise has mobile staff that need to deliver services to clients without compromising the enterprise security then you need the Elevation Management System from SMS

If you have legacy systems that only run under Windows™ XP then EMS can help you migrate them to Windows™ 7 without modification

If you want to retain the vital security benefits of Windows™ 7 without restricting the flexibility of your workforce then EMS from Secure Management Systems is the tool that you need.

The Elevation Management System is currently used by over 10,000 mobile workers operating in highly secure environments

EMS delivers these benefits to your enterprise:

- Reduced direct costs of managing large numbers of computers
- Retains the immense security benefits provided by Windows UAC
- Ensures that remote and travelling users are still secured with UAC
- Reduces desk side visits by support personnel by allowing users to be given the required access
- Greatly reduces the development time of Enterprise implementations of Windows Vista™ and Windows 7™.
- Reduces costs of migrating legacy applications

EMS provides an enterprise level, client server system that allows authorised users to run specific applications with elevated privileges in a "Least Privileges" locked down system under Windows UAC.

The EMS allows system administrators to define which applications can be run by which users with an elevated authority. The end users do not need to be given elevated rights themselves, nor do they need to be given access to another account with higher authority.

The entire system is designed to work in a sometimes connected fashion that allows support for travelling notebook users. It establishes communications as and when the user
